

END USER LICENSE AGREEMENT

Thank you for your interest in being granted a licence to the current version of the software known as DPIN (the “software”), which is made available by UniQuest Pty Limited ACN 010 529 898. Before a licence to the software can be granted to the person or entity wishing to be granted a licence as identified during the sign-up/download process (the “Licensee”), these terms and conditions will need to be agreed to by a person who has authority to bind the Licensee. These terms and conditions should be read carefully as they create important legal rights and obligations.

1. UniQuest grants a non-exclusive licence to the Licensee to make one copy of the object code version of the software on a single computer for use by one person at a time. The term of the licence is one year commencing upon the date of download of the software. At the end of the term (and each successive term if extended in accordance with this clause) the Licensee will be given an option to extend the term of the licence for a further period of one year for the version of the software commercially available at that time, in return for payment of the then-current fees for the software. The Licensee acknowledges that if the Licensee does not elect to extend the term, the Licensee’s right to use the software will end and the software may cease to function. If the Licensee elects to extend the term, then these terms and conditions shall continue to apply for that extended term.
2. If as part of the sign-up/download process the Licensee has selected the “Standard Edition” then the Licensee’s use of the software and its functionality is limited to the extent set out as part of the sign-up/download process.
3. If as part of the sign-up/download process the Licensee has selected an academic licence, the Licensee must only use the software for non-commercial research purposes and for no other purpose. Use of the software will be considered non-commercial only if the results of the use of the software are not intended primarily for the benefit of a third party and the use of the software is undertaken primarily for the purpose of publication in academic books, journals, papers, articles or theses.
4. The Licensee must not use or modify the software, other than as specifically permitted by this Agreement. Except to the extent permitted by this Agreement, the Licensee must not make copies of the software or any documentation provided with the software for third parties, nor permit others to do so. The Licensee must not rent, lease or hire out the software. The Licensee must not decompile or disassemble the software. This licence is personal to the Licensee and the Licensee must not transfer or assign this licence or grant any sub-licences.
5. The fee for the licence to the software is the fee displayed as part of the sign-up/download process. This licence is conditional upon the fee being paid including any applicable goods and services tax within 30 days of the date of acceptance of these terms and conditions. If the Licensee accepts these terms and conditions, the Licensee will be asked to pay the fees.
6. If the Licensee breaches any of the terms of this licence and does not rectify the breach within 7 days of UniQuest notifying the Licensee of the breach, UniQuest may terminate this licence by written notice to the Licensee. If UniQuest terminates this licence, the Licensee must return to UniQuest all copies of the software, and delete all electronic copies of the software.
7. UniQuest is not obliged to provide any installation, training, updates or support for the software.
8. UniQuest warrants to the Licensee that the software will not infringe the copyright of a third party. The full extent of UniQuest’s liability to the Licensee for a breach of this warranty is limited, at the option of UniQuest, to modifying the software to be non-infringing, obtaining a licence from the third party for the Licensee to continue using the software or refunding the fee most recently paid by the Licensee to UniQuest in relation to the software.
9. To the full extent permitted by law, UniQuest makes no warranties in relation to the software other than the warranty in clauses 8. The Licensee acknowledges that UniQuest has not made and does not make any warranty or representation whatsoever as to any attributes or characteristics of the software; whether the software will perform (i) any purpose or use or any particular purpose or particular use or (ii) any particular functionality; whether or not the Software (i) will be error free (ii) will be free of viruses or (iii) will be useable without interruption; and in all such respects, the Licensee warrants that in entering into this Agreement it relies upon its own due diligence, skill and judgement.
10. All implied conditions, warranties and representations whether arising under statute or by implication of law, custom or usage with respect to the software, to the full extent permitted by law shall not apply.
11. Subject to paragraph 8 and 12, UniQuest’s liability, whether for breach of contract, negligence or otherwise, in any way connected with this Agreement or the software is:
 - (a) excluded, insofar as liability for loss of profits, loss of revenue and loss of goodwill and for special, indirect, consequential and punitive damages are concerned; and
 - (b) limited for all claims in aggregate to the fee most recently paid by the Licensee to UniQuest in relation to the software.
12. Where legislation implies in this Agreement any condition or warranty, and that legislation prohibits in a contract excluding or modifying the application of or exercise of or liability under such condition or warranty, the condition or warranty shall be deemed to be included in this Agreement. The liability of UniQuest for any breach of any such condition or warranty shall be limited to the replacement of the software.
13. The parties acknowledge that solely in relation to the subject matter of this Agreement the whole of the agreement between the parties is contained in this Agreement. This licence will be governed by the laws of Queensland, Australia. No variation to this Agreement shall be binding upon the parties unless that variation is in writing, and is signed by all the parties to this Agreement.
14. Any notice to be given or served by one party upon the other pursuant to this Agreement shall be sufficiently served if:
 - (a) sent by registered post to the address of the party appearing upon this Agreement, or to the address of the party last known to the party serving such notice; or
 - (b) sent by facsimile transmission.
15. Where service is effected by registered post, service shall be deemed to have taken place on the date that the document to be served has been delivered. Where service is effected by facsimile transmission, service shall be deemed to have taken place upon the completion of that transmission if the sender’s facsimile machine produces a written report confirming the completion of a successful transmission of all pages in the notice, to the recipient’s facsimile machine.
16. If it is held by a court that:
 - (a) any part of this Agreement is or would be void, voidable, illegal or unenforceable; or
 - (b) the application of any part of this Agreement to any person or circumstances shall be or become invalid or unenforceable,unless any part of this Agreement were severed from this Agreement, that part shall be severable and shall not affect the continued operation of the remaining terms of this Agreement.